Appendix 1 - Guidance on risk assessment

A risk assessment is a careful examination of what in your work or activities could cause harm to people, so that you can weigh up whether you have taken enough precautions or should do more to prevent harm. A risk assessment is not about creating huge amounts of paperwork, but rather about identifying sensible measures to control real risks - those that are most likely and will cause the most harm.

The law does not expect you to eliminate all risk, but you are required to protect people "so far as is reasonably practicable".

When thinking about your risk assessment, remember:

- a hazard is anything that may cause harm, such as trailing or bare electric cables, unrestrained windows on upper floors, shared fabric towels in washrooms and unlocked cupboards containing chemicals and / or cleaning fluids
- the risk is the chance, high or low, that somebody could be harmed by these and other hazards, together with an indication of how serious the harm could be.

Step 1: Identify the hazards

First you need to work out how people could be harmed.

Step 2: Decide who might be harmed and how

Identify groups of people who might be harmed and how they might be harmed, which includes employees, volunteers and helpers, students, visitors and contractors.

Step 3: Evaluate the risks and decide on precautions

Decide what to do about the risks. Compare what you currently do with what is accepted as good practice. If there is a difference, list what needs to be done.

When controlling risks, apply these principles, if possible in this order:

- try a less risky option
- prevent access to the hazard
- organise work to reduce exposure to the hazard
- issue personal protective equipment
- provide welfare facilities
- involving or consulting with workers.

Step 4: Record your findings and implement them

Make a record of your significant findings - the hazards, how people might be harmed by them and what you have in place to control the risks. Outcomes should record any required action and the individuals responsible for taking this. Any record produced should be simple and focused on controls.

the attached template (see Appendix 3) or download a template from the HSE website.

A health and safety checklist for classrooms can also be downloaded from the HSE website.

Step 5: Review your risk assessment and update if necessary

You should review what you are doing on a regular ongoing basis. When doing so, ask yourself:

- have there been any significant changes?
- are there improvements you still need to make?
- have employees or students spotted a problem?
- have you learnt anything from accidents or near misses?

Guidance on risk assessment of welfare issues

A risk assessment in the student welfare context is a careful examination of what could cause harm to student welfare and appropriate control measures, so that you can weigh up whether the College has taken adequate precautions or should do more to prevent harm.

The purpose of a risk assessment is not to create huge amounts of paperwork, but rather to identify sensible measures to control real risks - those that are most likely to occur and /or will cause the most harm if they do.

When thinking about your risk assessment in this context, remember:

- a welfare issue is anything that may harm a student, to include cyber-bullying or abuse
- the risk is the chance that a student could be harmed, together with an indication of how serious the harm could be if they are.

Step 1: Identify the issue

First you need to work out how students could be harmed. This will generally be set out in the concern raised about a student's welfare.

Step 2: Decide who might be harmed and how

Identify individual students or groups who might be harmed and how they might be harmed by the concern raised.

Step 3: Evaluate the risks and decide on precautions

Decide what to do about the risks.

Compare what you currently do with what is required by law, DfE guidance or is accepted good practice. If there is a difference, list what needs to be done to protect the student's welfare.

Step 4: Record your findings and implement them

Make a written record of your significant findings - the issue, how student(s) might be harmed and what arrangements the College has in place to control those risks.

There is no prescribed format for this record but any record produced should be simple and focussed on control measures and the steps the College proposes to take to manage the risk.

Step 5: Review your risk assessment and update if necessary

Review what you are doing for the students identified and across the College generally and monitor the efficacy of the measures you have put in place on a regular basis, or as required.

Appendix 2 - Guidance on RIDDOR reporting

The College is obliged to report certain accidents, diseases and dangerous occurrences or near misses under the Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations (RIDDOR):

Accidents involving staff

The College will report:

- work-related accidents resulting in death or "specified' injury" (including as a result of physical violence) must be reported immediately (major injury examples include: any loss of consciousness caused by head injury or asphyxia; amputation)
- work-related accidents which prevent the injured person from continuing with his / her normal work for more than seven days
- certain work-related diseases
- certain dangerous occurrences or near misses (reportable examples: bursting of closed pipes; electrical short circuit causing fire; accidental release of any substance that may cause injury to health).

Accidents involving students or visitors

The College will report accidents where the student or visitor is killed or is taken from the scene of the accident to hospital and where the accident arises out of or in connection with a "work activity".

In determining whether the accident arose out of a "work activity", the College should consider whether the accident was caused by factors, such as:

- a failure in the way a work activity was organised e.g. inadequate supervision on an educational visit
- the way in which equipment, machinery or substances were used
- the condition, design or maintenance of the College premises.

Further guidance can be found in Incident reporting in schools \(accidents, diseases and dangerous occurrences\): guidance for employers \(HSE, EDIS1 \(revision 3\), October 2013\), and on the HSE website.
